The Texas Wesleyan University Institutional Review Board (IRB) is responsible for protecting the welfare and rights of individuals who are subjects of research sponsored by faculty, staff, or students of Texas Wesleyan University campuses. Approval by the IRB must be obtained prior to the initiation of subsequent years of a project, whether conducted on campus or off-campus.

Per federal regulations, multi-year projects must be reviewed at intervals appropriate to the degrees of risk, but no less than once per year. Continuation review requests must be submitted no later than the anniversary of the initial review approval date.
